

Amy Cramer

Over the past two decades, Amy has dedicated her time working in public education, first as a special education teacher and most recently as a high school counselor. During her 26-year tenure, Amy's passion and commitment for helping students navigate through their high school years is seen daily through her positive interactions with the students at Pryor High School. Amy holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in Special Education from Northeastern State University, a Master of Arts degree in Educational Leadership from Southern Nazarene University, as well as a Master of Education degree in School Counseling from Southeastern Oklahoma State University. Amy currently resides in Pryor with her husband Nick and two children, Kennedy and Collin. As a family, they love to travel and do anything outdoors.
